Ecological sinner, repent! Christmas trees are so Twentieth Century. Maybe it's time to put an axe to that tradition and spare the trees. Well, no one (as far as I know) is suggesting this yet, nor am I, but the term "ecological" sin is something new and developing in theology. Pope Francis himself, recently made reference to it. It raises some interesting questions. At this time of the year for example, Christmas trees might be questioned. Real trees wind up being cut down and all of four weeks or so later, they will be put curbside as trash. Is this good for ecology and environment? It sure is good for those who own Christmas tree farms and those who get paid to haul discarded said trees away. Perhaps, the best solution, ye sinner, is an expensive and heavy live tree purchased with balled roots and planted post Christmas in the back yard. Oh, and then, there is the artificial tree. This is a grave moral issue. Plastics and chemicals go into its making and its eventual disposal presents an environmental nightmare. Concerning "ecological" sins, Christmas trees balled, cut, or artificial are the very least of our problems. The call that we have and have always had, is to one of stewardship. We must do our best to protect the environment. Why indeed throw away, when one can recycle. We pollute in oh, so many ways! We could even make — and should make, reference to the "ecological" of our souls! Ecological sinner, repent! Maybe we could start by simply and humbly picking up the trash that we do see before us and at our feet. A renewed spiritual life and an "ecological" sainthood might begin simply by bending over and picking up that crumbled old coffee cup lying in the parking lot instead of walking over it. Don't throw it away! Put it under the Christmas tree next to the manger! I guarantee that you'll have quite the story to tell come Christmas Day—a day on which God Himself, set out to pick up some trash...and recycle.

Peace!

Fr. Wilson

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED — CHRISTMAS PRESENCE — CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

We want our sick and homebound parishioners to know we think about them and pray for them, especially during this Holy Season. Please share your Christmas joy by helping to deliver a special Christmas card and plant to our homebound on Tuesday, December 17. All Extraordinary Eucharistic Ministers to the homebound and volunteers will come to the Convent to pick up the pointsettia and Christmas card anytime between 9:15 AM and 1:00 PM on Tuesday, December 17. All visitations will be done on that day. Thank you to all who can help bring our parish greetings to our homebound.

Principal's Corner

As the Advent season continues, the students are continuing to collect the Toys for Tots. The toys will be delivered to a drop off point before we leave for the holidays.

The children in grades 2—8 go to confession throughout the school year. This week, grades 5—6 received the healing power of Jesus through the priest.

The Christmas Bazaar for the students was a huge success. I want to thank the Home and School and all of the volunteers who made this day so special for the children. Santa was a big hit. St. Nicholas came that day as well.

The first trimester of the school year has ended. It went by so quickly. We are now in the second trimester of the year.

Our Candlelight Procession will take place on Tuesday, December 17, at 7:00 PM in the Church. Please come and join us as we tell the story of the birth of Jesus.

Registration for our parish school will take place the last week of January. Please continue to check the bulletin and the principal's corner for more information.

Have a great week!

God bless you!

Dr. Worrilow

December 15 — Third Sunday of Advent

Reflection by Rev. Leonard N. Peterson

I've seen the following request both in print and in person. A doctor's receptionist or nurse asks me: "May I have your insurance card and your personal ID?" This always strikes me as unnecessary "red tape" because I would have been there before and done this. Obviously I would only be there in the first place by order of the doctor. But such is the security precaution needed these days in a world of rampant fraud.

That kind of technological security was unknown in John the Baptist's world. Yet authenticating a stranger's identity was just as important then as it is now, albeit for different reasons. In those bygone days, there were so many false claimants to the august title of "Messiah" that one had to be sure. In this case, we know St. John was sure of Jesus. Had he not called Him "the Lamb of God" at the riverbank? So he must have wanted his own disciples to have the same surety. He was gently striving to get them to shift their allegiance from himself to Jesus. That alone implies a beautiful humility in Our Lord's illustrious cousin.

St. Matthew then gives us a full "job description," if you will, of the authentic Messiah. He does it through Jesus' answer to John's delegation. See the healing and preaching of the Good News that I'm doing. Note how that captures in brief the mission of our Catholic Church.

Patience is not always our usual American way. But during this Advent season, we can try again to practice it. Our younger generation needs our example. From that they will take the hint that following Christ has its ups and downs, as life itself has, but that heroes are not made overnight or easily. Allow me to return to my opening reference to the habits of the medical profession. Somebody came up with a little homespun wisdom that plays with our language and opined that "it just maybe that our hospitals would have few pedestrian patients if there were more patient pedestrians."
