FROM THE PASTOR

We've witnessed history with the election of Pope Leo XIV. So, it seems opportune to turn the rest of this space over to our resident historian priest, who has graciously penned the following look back at some of the more famous or not-so-famous Pope Leos.

Pope Saint Leo I the Great (440-461) Author of The Tome, his writings were used by the Council of Chalcedon to pronounce the doctrine that Jesus Christ has two distinct yet united natures—human and divine—in opposition to the heresy of the Monophysites, who denied His humanity. In 452, he left Rome to meet Attila the Hun, successfully deterring him from attacking Rome. St. Leo I has been declared one of the Western Fathers of the Church.

Pope Leo III (795-816) In 799 he was attacked by a Roman mob who disliked his political style of government of the Papal States. He was rescued by the Frankish King Charlemagne, who restored him to safety. In gratitude to the king, he crowned Charlemagne as Holy Roman Emperor on Christmas Day 800. The Holy Roman Empire would remain in existence until dissolved by Napoleon in 1806.

Pope Saint Leo IV (847-855) To prevent attacks on Rome by Moslem Saracen invaders, he built forty-foot-high walls around the Vatican along with towers for defense. These Leonine walls still remain in Rome. He also commandeered the structure of Emperor Hadrian's tomb, converting it into Castle Sant' Angelo, which was used over the centuries as an escape route from St. Peter's and a fortress defending the city. Its name comes from the statue of St. Michael the Archangel, which stands in golden splendor atop the structure.

Pope St. Leo IX (1049-1054) The first of the medieval reform popes, he had been a monk at the reform monastery of Cluny in France. He began the process of restoring governmental leadership to the clergy after it had been seized by European nobility. He used cardinals as an advisory group or a cabinet. Some of these cardinals became popes themselves, such as Nicholas II (1059-61), who began the process of papal elections by cardinals, not nobles, and Gregory VII, who stood up to the Holy Roman Emperor Henry IV, who wanted to appoint and install his own bishops. Three months after St. Leo's death, the Great Eastern Schism began; the fracture still existing between Catholics and Orthodox.

Pope Leo X (1513-1521) A member of the famous money lending family from Florence, the Medici. The balls on his papal coat of arms are still used today by modern money lenders—pawnshops. Pope Leo continued the practice of his predecessor Julius II of selling indulgences. This brought about a protest by the monk Martin Luther in Saxony, who posted his 95 Theses in 1517. Leo would excommunicate Luther in 1520 leading to a series of wars in the German states. Two years after Pope Leo's death, he would be succeeded by his cousin Giulio De' Medici, who became Pope Clement VII. He would have to deal with both Luther and the annulment demand of King Henry VIII of England and the start of Anglicanism.

Pope Leo XIII (1878-1903) The successor to the longest papacy of 32 years (Bl. Pius IX, 1846-1878), Pope Leo was elevated by cardinals who wanted a much shorter tenure in office. Thought to be both elderly and in poor health, Pope Leo proves the adage "man proposes but God disposes." He would remain for the next twenty-five years (then the second-longest term, now the third longest after Pope St. John Paul II), dying in his nineties and outliving all of his electors. He is most known for writing the first of the social encyclicals Rerum Novarum. He gave his approval to American labor unions after consulting with James Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore. He urged that the writings of St. Thomas Aquinas be used as a basis for Catholic theology. He declared that the ordinations of the Anglican church would be invalid. He condemned Socialism but also warned that "Americanism," believing that the US governmental structure could not be used by the Church (democracy vs hierarchy). He continued the policy of his predecessor Pius IX by remaining a "prisoner of the Vatican." This situation remained until the 1929 Lateran treaty, giving the Church political independence by forming the Vatican City-State.

You are a beloved child of God!

The Corner

Oh we are so impatient in our prayers! We know God can do all things, so we're tempted to say "You're God. Just get on with it. Do it." But why do you think God works the way He does? It is a commonplace of the Bible that God rejoices in our cooperation. He wants us to involve ourselves --- through freedom, intelligence, creativity --- in what He is doing. And so He plants seeds and He wants us to cultivate them.

Thank You!

Thank you for supporting Capt'n Chucky and March Madness fundraisers! We are happy to report that we had two winners for March Madness.

School News

May, the month of Mary, our Heavenly Mother and all Mothers, is here. We are coming ever closer to the end of the 2024-25 school year and preparing for the summer.

The virtue for May is Most improved. Our students are doing well following the Holy Cross Expectations, and many have earned Good Deed Beads. Quite a few have earned a decade. Students who get 50 Good Deed Beads will form a Rosary of Virtue; many are working towards it. These students will earn a coveted Principal's Pass, which is good for either a dress down, a homework pass, or 15 minutes of free time. Our monthly Good Deed Bead Drawing will take place on June 3.

God bless our Holy Cross Students and PREP students who received the sacrament of First Holy Communion on Saturday, May 3, 2025.

Our teacher's appreciation lunch was celebrated on Tuesday, May 6, to honor our teachers and their hard work and dedication to their students and Holy Cross School. Their accomplishments were shown in our Terra Nova scores, which showed improvement in all areas, especially math.
Our Principal, Mr. Salvatore, is committed to leading our school to higher academic standards.

Our school show this year will be on Wednesday, May 14, at 6 pm. We welcome our parishioners. The theme this year is show tunes. Our students and teachers have been hard at work preparing for this annual production.

May 23 is our Walk-a-thon and Great Inflatable race in our school yard. Come see our Pastor and Principal race in their inflatable suits!

It is a busy time here at Holy Cross School, we thank all of our parishioners and our Pastor for your dedication to our school and for your support.

Food Pantry Update

Happy Spring! We continue to be very busy providing food for Our Neighbors in Need.

We have several businesses and folks we would like to recognize...

Thank You to:

- St. Kevin's (ran a Lenten food drive and provided hundreds of bags of food to help fill our shelves). God Bless Our Neighboring parishioners.
- St. Annie's runs a monthly parish food collection and we are the Thankful recipient.
- Chuck Martino (Nirvana Hair Salon) provides pet food. We ran out of both dog and cat food last week, and Chuck Martino quickly replenished our supplies. Some folks will feed their pets before themselves, so we are very Grateful for these donations.
- Shoprite continues to provide large quantities of bakery, bread and miscellaneous items weekly.
- Roma's Deli continues to provides rolls and other goodies weekly.

As we have shared many times, it takes a village to enable us to serve so many. If you are able, we are in need of cereal, oatmeal, breakfast bars, toaster tarts, pasta sauce (no glass please), pasta, canned meats, spaghetti, mac & cheese, rice, peanut butter, jelly and kiddie snacks.

Many folks bring their children with them while picking up supplies. We always try to have little goodie bags for the children.

If you know anyone in Delco in need of food, please let them know that our pantry is open every Wednesday from 3:45 to 5:30.

Thank You for "All" you do for our Community with your generous donations and prayers.

Love and Prayers,
Your Friends from the SVDP Holy Cross Food Pantry
